Membership meeting Thursday

CVPOA to hear road, planning chiefs

Members of Carmel Valley Property Owners Association were reminded by Pres. Emil C. Hansen of the quarterly membership meeting this Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Community Center.

He announced the program topic as development of subdivisions bordering Carmel Valley and their effects on Valley roads, traffic and planning. Invited speakers included representatives of the county planning and road depts. and major subdivision developers, particularly of Hidden Hills and Utah Construction Co. which will develop several thousand acres to the north of Hidden Hills.

A proposed amendment to Article XV of the CVPOA bylaws in regard to adding a permanent membership committee will also be acted on.

ZONING CONCERN

Pres. Hansen said he is concerned with the county planning commission action in over-riding the Upper Valley Advisory Board's opposition to changing zoning on the proposed Valley Plaza shopping center from commercial to planned commercial. He has queried the county for reasons for the action and received the following letter from Dr. Ed Marcucci, Carmel Valley planning commissioner.

"I wish to take this opportunity to clarify my position on the Valley Plaza rezoning," Dr. Marcucci's letter said.

"The change from C-1-D-P to P-C is justified.

"I believe the gas station is the matter of concern. The change from C-1-D-P to P-C is justified on the following basis: a use permit is required for the former, with little control over the establishment of retail business.

MARCUCCI CLARIFIES

"A zoning permit is required for the latter, and also a developmental plan, control of land coverage, landscaping, etc. which goes to the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors, and also gives the Advisory Board another, and perhaps two reviews of the proposal.

"Please be assured by my continued cooperation in all matters relating to CVPOA."

Dr. Marcucci also added that he concurs "wholeheartedly with the board's (CVPOA's) recommendation for Doyt Early's appointment to the Carmel Valley Advisory Board and will move for approval at the Planning Commission level."

Storm knocks out 5 power poles

BLACKOUT in some of Carmel Valley during last Thursday night's big storm was caused when this power pole snapped by the Monterey Peninsula Community Church on Carmel Valley Rd. The high wind caused a weak spot in the pole to break, taking down five adjacent poles and their heavy lines.

Notice

With Thanksgiving, next week's Outlook will be published Monday. Deadline is Thursday at 5.

Kvenild to head Chamber Commerce

NEW OFFICERS of Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce were elected by directors Friday. They include, from left, Bob Kvenild of The Village House, president who is past president of the now defunct Village Committee; Skip Marquard of Porter-Marquard Realty, first vice-president; Tom Bottaro of Casa Carmelo Restaurant, retiring president; and Will Fay of Will's Fargo Restaurant, second vice-president. Not pictured is Mrs. Pat Swan of Swan's Furniture, who was chosen treasurer. They take office Jan. 1. Secretary, an appointive post, is Rae Black.

Church permit sought for Baez school

Three items are scheduled for consideration by the CV Upper Valley Advisory Board at a meeting Friday at 8:30 a.m. in the Community Center:

A use permit for use of the Institute of Non-Violence building on N. Carmel Valley Rd. as a church meeting hall for the "Subud California Church," is asked by Roy C. Kepler of Los Altos. Peter Grafstein, CV star route, is given as local reference. Meetings not to excede 20 between 8 p.m. and 10:30 p.m. would be Tuesday and Friday nights, the application says.

Dr. Darrell Jewett is seeking a variance for reduction in side-yard set-back for an addition to his house on Garzas Rd.

David Taylor is seeking a variance for an addition to his house on W. Carmel Valley Rd. and a use permit for a caretaker residence.

CV Co-op Gallery shows Spohn work this weekend

Stan Spohn, whose paintings of the Peninsula are a balance of pastoral valley scenes and fog-bound or sunlit coastline, will show recent works "on the fence" under the oak trees beside the Carmel Valley Artists Co-op Gallery, which is sponsoring the show Nov. 23 and 24 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Spohn is a Carmel artist whose background includes exhibiting and winning awards in southern California as well as locally where he has been County Fair exhibit chairman.

Four years of scholarships through the Art Center of Los Angeles and study at UCLA was followed by study in museums across the U.S. and Europe. He painted landscape background for Disney for a few years, then for M.G.M and Hallmark.

The artist lives at his studio-home on Mission St. with his wife, Letty, and Carmel High School daughter, Jennifer.

The oak sheltered area between the Co-op Gallery and the White Oaks Gallery has been enhanced by a large open-faced stove, faced with benches. Here gallery goers are invited to warm their toes and sip hot cider after viewing the exhibit.

Carmel volunteer helps Toddlers' House in Seaside, more needed

Toddler's House, the Seaside pre-school nursery, has a new adult volunteer worker in Mrs. Ed Lunblad of Carmel who has been helping out each week day by taking a group of the children to the Lincoln-Cunningham Park (about two blocks from the nursery) for a period of outdoor supervised play.

Mrs. Lunblad says she very much needs another worman to help with the park trips and to help with story reading or art projects on rainy mornings.

Play things and arts and crafts equipment (such as new or used crayons and scrap paper) and books are always needed, Mrs. Lunblad says.

Mrs. Byington Ford of Carmel Valley is another Toddler House volunteer who will soon resume once-a-week dancing lessons there.

Mrs. Lenora Pinkston, who directs the nursery school in her home, provides a hot noon lunch and a rest period in the early afternoon. The children range in age from 2 to 6 and an average of 17 children attend regularly. People with materials or time to donate may phone 624-9230 for more information.

Community Church to celebrate its fifth birthday with dinner party

During the evening's program arranged by James Pruitt, assisted by Mrs. Will Johnson and John Farr, the birthday cake will be cut by one of the oldest of the charter members, Mrs. Nora Grabill, and a 5-year old, George Cree, the son of the minister, Burkert Cree. Musical selections and a short summary of the church's founding and history will be given by Dr. Ronald Menmuir.

Special guests will be the ministers who have served in a visiting capacity prior to the ministry of Mr. Cree. Board members, past and present, will serve the dinner and act as hosts and hostesses for the evening.

Noted flamenco guitarist to play at Tantamount Sunday

RCA calls Peter Evan's album, The American in Spain, "Fantastic Flamenco". Aficionados will be able to hear him in person Sunday night at 8 o'clock at the Tantamount in a program of flamenco and classical guitar.

The Spainards called him "El Rubio de California" (the California Blonde) and accepted him as one of their own. He performed as soloist in Spain and accompanied the gypsy flamenco singers and dancers in their cantinas.

Back in this country he toured with the "Brazil 66" company, coast to coast, and in South America for two years. Engagements followed in Chicago and Los Angeles.

Evan's recital at the Tantamount is a welcome event for the young artist, as he has recently settled in the area. Telephone (659-2405) Reservations are advised.

THE MPC "Interludes," a jazz vocal quartet composed of (left to right) Bill Gammons, Greg Stegeman, Carmel High School student Mindy Rayne and Sue Perry, will perform at MPC's fall jazz concert Friday, Nov. 22, against a backdrop of paintings from the college's art department. Tickets, at $1 for general admission and 50 cents for students, will be sold at the MPC Music Hall door prior to the 8:30 p.m. concert. (Photo by Alan Mc Ewen)

Ross photos in exhibit opening Friday in Carmel

Photographs by the noted Berkeley photographer, Donald S. Ross, will be featured in the next exhibit opening this Friday evening in Carmel Photography Center, Carmel.

Opening with a public reception from 8 to 10:30 p.m., the exhibition is sponsored by Carmel's Friends of Photography, Inc. of which Ross is a trustee.

His one-man show have been featured at the San Francisco Museum of Art, American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Boston Symphony Hall, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Carl Seimbab Gallery in Boston, Chico State College and others. He has published in a variety of photography magazines and annuals.

Ross for many years until the early 1950's was in advertising photography, doing much of the photo work for the San Francisco office of J. Walter Thompson, Inc., the nation's largest ad agency.

He was a personal friend of the late Edward Weston and made a number of photographic trips with him, including his last to Death Valley in 1949.

Some of the photographs in the coming exhibit were also taken on trips to Europe and Guatamala with Brett Weston. Others were taken on sixtrips which Ross has made the length of Baja California.

Ross chiefly uses an 8x10" camera, which produces remarkable clarity.

Born in 1912, he attended Berkeley schools and the University of Texas. His home is now in Berkeley.

3 MPC jazz groups to give concert Friday

Three Monterey Peninsula College jazz groups - the 20-piece MPC Jazz Ensemble, the 22-member MPC Jazz Rehearsal Band, and a jazz vocal quartet called "The Interludes" - will stage a concert Friday, Nov. 22, at 8:30 p.m. in the college music hall.

Tickets, at $1 for general admission and 50 cents for students, will be sold at the door or may be purchased from members of the ensemble or band. MPC students who are ASMPC members will be admitted free.

The Jazz Ensemble, conducted by Dan Haerle of the college music faculty, will play a variety of music from both the jazz and rock idioms.

"The Interludes" - MPC students Greg Stegemen, Sue Perry and Bill Gammons and Carmel High School student Mindy Rayne - will sing and accompany themselves on two selections, and the ensemble will accompany them on "Dynaflow," a classic from the Stan Kenton library.

Play review

High praise for period play at Circle Theatre

By David Watkins

A royal family's jousting for the throne of 12th century England and France provides the historical backdrop for the Circle Theatre's production, 'A Lion in Winter.'

Author James Goldman has collected the intrigues and rumours surrounding the beseiged throne of King Henry II, and has fashioned them into an excellent fictional dramatic comedy. Avoiding the traps of having his characters mouth out-of-place 20th century vernacular, or unintelligible Shakesperiana, Goldman writes with lusty vigour in his account of the strong man of that period at war with his wife, his sons, his mistress, the French, and the Holy Roman Church. There is some inconsistency in style; notably with Prince John's overuse of latter day Junior High phraseology, although this did show the roots from which the spoiled and selfish king later developed.

A lion in winter: King Henry, the weary but still dangerous old lion, stocking his melting snowballs against the concerted attacks of family and foe, garners his winter warmth and bolsters his fading immortality in the arms of his latest femme de plaisir, Alais Capet. At bay before his sons, the aura of the king still retains power enough to deter the young whelps from rolling the first rock of the avalanche that would give one of them the crown.

Prince John, as Dad's favourite, and Prince Richard, as Mummy's darling, get prime positions for the spoils, with Prince Geoffrey circling warily on the outside.

There are times of deep passion: the mental anguish inflicted upon Henry by the young King of France - and intense

Mr. R. A. Hebert, who has many years experience working in the "Y", accepted the position of leader.

Collection given to museum

Mrs. S. Mans Purple with her daughters, Mrs. Walters Jennings and Mrs. Fred E. Carrin, recently presented the late Dr. S. Mans Purple's collection of palaeontolical and geological items to the Municipal Museum of Riverside as a memorial.

The items were collected over a period of 40 years in California, Arizona and Utah. A major portion of them were identified by the late Dr. David Starr Jordon of Stanford University and consist of prehistoric fossils of land and sea.

Dr. and Mrs. Purple lived on Laurel Dr. in the Valley until his death in 1965. Mrs. Purple now makes her home in Carmel Woods.

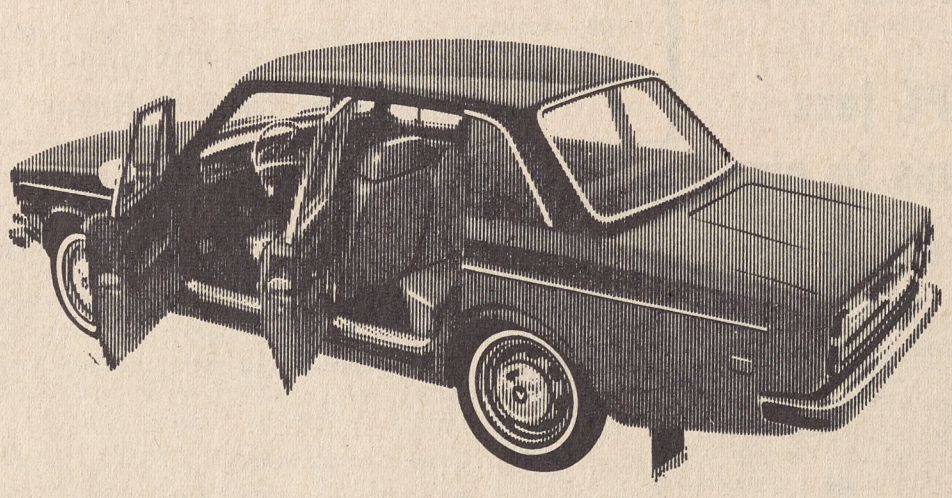
On the outside it's smaller than a large car.
On the inside it's larger than a small car.



Most people know that a Volvo isn't a big boat.

But what they don't know is that a Volvo isn't a little bug.

They think because it isn't big and its name begins with "V", it must be small, This is wrong.

Volvo is compact (not economy-sized) outside, cavernous inside.

In the front, it has more leg-room than a Cadillac Fleetwood. In the back, it has more leg-room than a Chrysler.

It has more head-room than a Cadillac Eldorado. And a trunk so big it puts many of the bigger Detroit cars to shame.

If you've hesitated to buy a Volvo because you think it's too small, maybe you ought to stop in and take a close look.

You could be in for a big surprise. Or a small shock.

Carol Curby weds John Haller

Mr. and Mrs. John Frederick Haller, whose marriage took place last month at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel, are now at home at 29 Paso Cresta.

The bride is the former Carol Suzanne Curby, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Veach of Carmel Valley. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Robert Haller and the late Mr. Haller, formerly of Carmel Valley. Mrs. Haller now lives in Los Angeles.

Both young people are graduates of Carmel High School.

The bride's street-length dress was fashioned of champagne-colored Chantilly lace. A satin bow held her three-tiered, shoulder-length veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Her attendant was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jan Veach of Pacific Grove. The bridegroom's brother, Bob Haller of Carmel Valley, served as his best man. Rick Hermanson and John Jones both of the Valley, were ushers.

A reception for relatives and close friends was held at the Veach River Road home.

The new Mrs. Haller is the granddaughter of the late Reuben S. Tice of Monterey. She is the niece of Richard Tice of Stockholm, Sweden, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fike of Pebble Beach, Mrs. Michael West of McLean, Va., and Mrs. William L. Smith of Pacific Grove.

The bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. George Adams of Los Angeles and the late John Metcalf of Oklahoma City.

Services held for Charles Washburn, auto crash victim

Memorial services for Charles Lawrence Washburn of Carmel Valley, who was killed in an automobile collision, Nov. 14, were held Monday in St. John's Chapel, Monterey.

Mr. Washburn, 57, made his home at 24 Hitchcock Canyon Rd. with his wife, Elizabeth. He was the son of the late Edgar Bassett Washburn and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Roland Tileson of Carmel Valley.

He also leaves a step-daughter, Mrs. Marvel Carter of San Francisco, a son, Edgar Bancroft Washburn of San Anselmo; and two brothers, Shelton, of Santa Barbara and Edward, of Woodside.

Mr. Washburn met his death near the Kern-San Luis Obispo County lines when his pickup truck was struck head-on by a pickup driven by Howard Gage, 40, of Salinas.

Mr. Washburn was born April 28, 1911 in Hinsdale, Ill., and educated at Polytechnic School in Pasadena, Webb School and Stanford University. He was currently engaged in agricultural research for Basic Vegetable Products, Inc.

He was a Lt. Commander in the U. S. Navy during the war and was a member of the Stillwater Yacht Club, Carmel.

Mr. Washburn was on the Board of Directors of the Monterey Peninsula National Council on Alcoholism and his family requested that instead of sending flowers, friends might make memorial donations to that organization.

Padre Trails Club

An unusual program, called "P.S.A. Around the World," will be presented at the November 21st meeting of the Padre Trails Camera Club at Brey Hall, Carmel High.

Members of the Photographic Society of America who live in many countries are represented by the slides they have sent for this program.

The P.S.A. contest on November 7th produced the following winners: two slides by Fred Williams, and one each by George Culp and Art Thorsen.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Lions

Dr. Milton J. Miller, governor of Lions Club District 4-C-6, gave an inspiring talk to the Carmel Valley Lions Club at its recent meeting.

He held up the Lions' goals for the one million members in 23,000 clubs around the world.

Also attending were Deputy District Gov. Charlie Spencer and Al Richter, cabinet secretary.

High praise went to Tom Bordonaro, first vice president of the CV Club, for his chairmanship of the successful "Fisherman Fiesta" in Monterey, which featured a cioppino dinner.

Kiwanis

Carmel Valley Kiwanians Tuesday enjoyed a talk by John Woolfenden illustrated with color slides of his recent trip to Spain and Mallorca as a member of Monterey's good-will mission in connection with next year's California bicentennial celebration.

He was part of a California delegation, including also from Monterey Bishop Harry A. Clinch and Curator Harry Downie of Carmel Mission.

Woolfenden's pictures included the birthplace of Fr. Junipero Serra in Petra Mallorca and the mountainous countryside of Mallorca and its rugged coast, which he compared to the local Big Sur coast.

Pres. Kevin Walsh presented perfect attendance pines to Rex White for nine years and Don Quinto for six years without missing meetings.

Play review

'Lion'

drama: the final confrontation between Henry and the three princes, as father faces sons, sword against daggers.

Gertrude Chappell, as Queen Eleanor, makes outstanding use of her knowledge of arena theatre. A good deal of the play's comedy lies with her, and her ability to portray the full personality of the queen - her wry cynicisms, her sardonic humour, as well as the glimpses of the mother and woman beneath the scheming exterior - is the solid foundation upon which the success of this production rests.

BOYISH KING

Roy Baxter, as King Henry, presents a rather boyish king, whose continual expression of devilish glee when he comes out on top in all the plots and ploys, undermines the dramatic effect on the occasions when the snowballs strike close to his heart. He does not quite manage to give his king the tragic dimensions of a man who succeeds as a monarch but fails as a father. But he does well in the snappy exchanges with his queen, which, in a comedy-drama, is perhaps the more essential point of emphasis.

Susan Leslie's is a unique part: as Alais Capet, she brings out the human facets of Henry; a girl in love with the man, not with his kingdom. Miss Leslie gives just the right air of innocence caught amongst the machinations of state.

UNHAPPY PRINCELINGS

The three princes were each given distinct personalities. Paul Elliott gave a remarkable performance as Prince Richard: revealing the intensity, the inner tensions and brooding power that went into the making of the future Richard Coeur de Lion. Also, James Bennett depicted well the pouting childish princeling, John, and clearly showed the characteristics of the monarch-to-be from which the Magna Carta was to be extracted.

Nicholas Gerogannis was not so happily cast as the Prince Geoffrey: his rather cheerful disposition seemed inappropriate for the most cunning of the brothers. Then there was James Sweeney, with another fine performance as the proud but as yet unsure young King of France. He can be credited with the dramatic high spot of the play in his confrontation scene with King Henry: a deeply powerful portrayal of hatred and bitterness.

The set created aptly the illusion of spaciousness of a castle environment, with massive walls and battlements. The costumes, too, met the requirements of authenticity.

To director Michael Keller - admiration for his choice of a play which could so easily have failed to come alive; he has successfully met the challenges entailed by such a demanding production, and the result is a real achievement.

Democratic Women

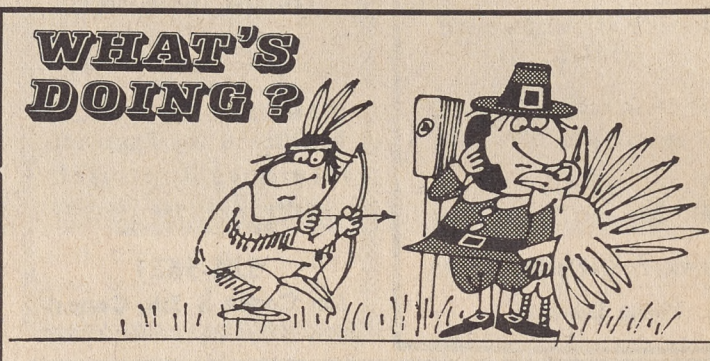
Carmel Women's Democratic Club at its last regular meeting of the year Nov. 20 plans "to chart a course designed to prepare significant plans." Members are to bring their own lunches to the noon meeting at Estrada Adobe.

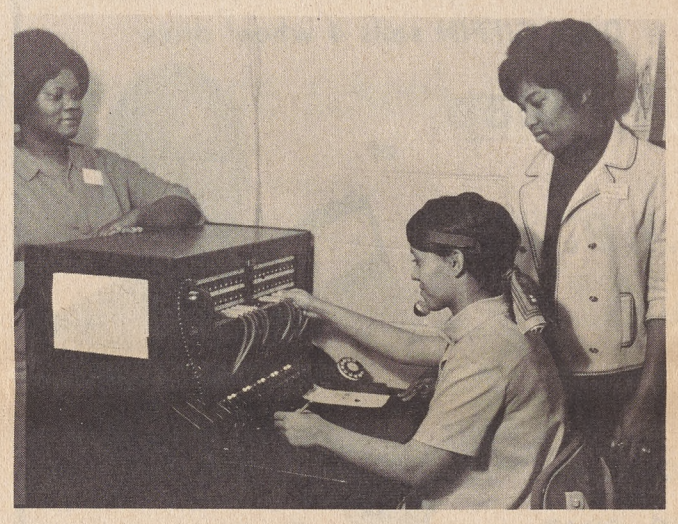
The local Cranston Crusade raised $5,000 to help elect Alan Cranston U. S. Senator, Florence Viall reported.

Mrs. Marion Robotti, president, said that, in accordance with board action last month, letters have been sent Sen. Grunsky and Assemblyman Pattee, requesting them to help prevent commercial development of Pico Blanco.

NPG Wives

"Exploring Children's Literature" is the title of the next meeting of the Officer Students' Wives' Club of the Naval Postgraduate School. Mrs. Harold F. Bruggeman of the "Magic Fishbone" Book Store will present ideas for Christmas gifts, today, Nov. 20, at 8:00 in the El Prado and El Rancho Rooms of Herrmann Hall.





PBX RECEPTIONIST CLASS

This class which is co-sponsored by the Young Adults For Action and the Monterey County Task Force For Action is being conducted by Telephone Company employees, Cheryle Hill, Lena Harvey, Doris Paige, and Lynne Wright at the Monterey Peninsula Area Service Center. The class is scheduled to run two nights a week for eight weeks. Attendance is running about 24 students per class meeting. In addition to learning the duties of a receptionist, the students are given some training on PBX and TWX. The receptionist training books and instructors manuals were donated to the Young Adults For Action by the California Test Bureau. If anyone is interested in placing one of these students at the completion of their training, please call our employment office at 373-1988 or the Young Adults For Action at 394-8118.

Did you know that you can place a single call and talk to several people in different places at the same time? Have a 3 or 4-way conference call? If you'd like to do this, the introductory pages of your phone book tell you how. They're easy to use and full of useful, everyday information like how to dial long distance calls direct, how to find area codes for other communities, how to reach Repair Service. And there's lots more. So, save yourself time and energy—check the front pages first.

The Monterey Peninsula abounds in exceptional paintings and sculpture to please the most discriminating at Christmastime

Works of art for Christmas giving

Christmastime and art are synonymous in many ways. Homes are decorated artistically, packages are wrapped artistically, people are dressed artistically, and through artwork the real meaning of Christmas under the glitter has been portrayed through the centuries.

Christmas, the season of giving, is a perfect time to think of gifts of artwork. A painting or piece of sculpture have become popular gift items in recent years and can give enjoyment to the recipient through many seasons.

Early paintings were religious in motif and many contemporary artists still pursue this theme. With both traditional and modern art to choose from, even the most difficult person who has everything can be remembered with an original art treasure.

To help guide Santa Claus through the Peninsula art galleries, The Outlook presents this special art edition, with emphasis on Christmas giving. We hope you enjoy your tour.

PURPOSE: The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association, organized in 1959, under the name of Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts, endeavors to perpetuate the knowledge of and interest in the arts, to encourage a spirit of fellowship among artists, and to bring together the artist and the public at large.

AIMS: Our goal is establishment of a permanent Art Museum with classrooms for workshop activities and with greater facilities for exhibitions than in our present Gallery headquarters. The community has continually been losing fine works of art to other areas with museums. We now have a continually growing permanent collection of the best work being done in this area and of works donated by private collectors.

MEMBERSHIP: Since our inception, we have made a continuous gain in membership. We invite you to join our organization and participate in our various activities. Your support will also benefit the community, as you will be working toward our goal of a permanent Museum of Art on the Monterey Peninsula.

Brighten up our landscape

A suggestion how to brighten up some of our mountain landscape with beautiful wild flowers has come our way from Charles Darland, a retired landscape architect who lives in the Valley.

He cited the experience of the Southern California areas of Antelope Valley and Gorman along Highway 99. Seeds of lupin, California poppies and Indian paintbrush were scattered on mountain grazing land there, and the flowers spread by themselves for miles.

"It could be a riot of color here, too," he commented. "The flowers would draw people to admire them in the spring and, what's more important, beautify the area for the local residents."

It's obvious that permission of major property owners would be a first step. Mr. Darland is of the opinion that the wild flowers wouldn't detract from the grazing value of the land.

The Village committee last year purchased $500 worth of packages of wild flower seeds, which were given away to build good-will. Much of these were mailed away and we hoped flourished elsewhere. We wonder what luck came of the seeds which were scattered locally.

Mr. Darland suggests spreading the seed he mentions from an airplane. "I would predict that half to two-thirds would germinate if scattered about the time of light rains and before heavy rain," he siad. "It's pleasant to see what can happen from a little bit of seed."

Although he retired here from Southern California, he pointed out that he has been familiar with the Carmel-Carmel Valley area since 1925 as a frequent visitor. Which would indicate he speaks with some authority. He added that he can arrange for purchase of such seed wholesale.

Any service clubs or other groups looking for an interesting project? Here's a beautiful idea. W.N.

IN SHORT

One-Man Show

JEAN FOSNOT has a one-man show of paintings at the New Monterey Center this month. The Carmel Valley artist is also an art teacher at Carmel High School.

Shopping Trip

GLAMOUR NOTE: Traylor Dunwoody and Luciano Tempo were finishing up a buying trip this month in Umbria "this most ancient and beautiful part of Italy". The partners in Luciano Antiques, Carmel, and Kitchen Traditions, Del Monte Center, have also been to England, Portgual, Spain, Holland and Scotland, seeking treasures of the past.

Helping Hands

PUTTY, SAND AND PAINT will be put to good use this weekend, for although the C.V. Youth Assoc. is busting out with wonderful holiday plans, they will first use their talents to fix up their Center. And they need help in the form of labor and donations.

Mel Tavares is supervising a group of workers Saturday at 7 p.m. and Gordon Harlander will head a crew Sunday at 10 a.m. You are invited to turn up, at either time, in work clothes. If you'd like to donate paint, call Murphy's Lumber, 659-2291.

St. Dunston's Bazaar Nov.23

SEWING FOR ST. DUNSTAN'S Episcopal Church Holiday Bazaar are (from left) Mrs. George Chilson, Mrs. M. A. Quinto and Mrs. George Clifford. Next Saturday, Nov. 23 is the day; hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with luncheon served at 11:30 and 1:30 and snacks available all day. The church on Robinson Canyon Road will be decked out with Thanksgiving and Christmas ideas for sale, plus all sorts of gifts a green grocery shop and a foreign recipe cook book compiled by the ladies. (Photo by George T. C. Smith)

Flea Market

HEROINES of last Saturday's Flea Market were Bobby Glendenning and Tina Travares, who dished out hotdogs, hamburgers and coffee all afternoon from "Dynamite" the CVYO mini Bing mobile. Profits will go toward purchasing equipment for a playground to be constructed between the Community Center and Tularcitos School. The successful Flea Market was the bright idea of the ladies of the CV Fireman's Auxiliary.

TO THE EDITOR

Proud of Halloween behavior

To the Editor:

The Le Cron letter in the last Outlook called attention to Halloween damage, which, judging from the address, took place in the area west of Farm Center. Here, in Carmel Valley Village, we can understand the writer's concern because in the past we also experienced our share of vandalism and malicious mischief. However, over a period of the past several years, this condition has been steadily improving. On the morning after Halloween, people who had businesses in the Village could usually look forward to spending a good portion of the day removing candle wax, soap, shaving cream and spray paint from their windows and store fronts. Each year this damage has been diminishing and this year our business area, almost without exception, was clean and of generally good appearance. Even the litter that could be expected on the streets and sidewalks was minimal. I believe I can speak for all of us who are in business here and say that we are proud of the behavior and restraint of our children and the respect that they have shown for the property of others.

Also, many of our children demonstrated a real concern for others by collecting money to be distributed to help feed, clothe and provide health care for less fortunate children in other parts of the world. They and the adults in our community who spent countless hours organizing the UNICEF collection campaign and the wonderful Halloween party for the children truly deserve our gratitude.

Sincerely,

Louis Gardner

COMMUNICATION

"How can I make a friend?" the youngster cried,
"There's no one seems to want me though I've tried
To be a sport and never to offend,
So tell me grandpa, please, what makes a friend?"

The old man shook his head: "Plus your good looks
You get high grades and master all your books,
You play in all the games, you have good health,
But first you have to be a friend yourself!"

"To be a friend," he said, "you have to share,
And never domineer, but learn to care.
Rejoice when someone else has won the race ---
Many a worthy man took second place!"

"True love," he added, "comes in varied form,
But never cold and distant, always warm;
And friendship lends itself to richest living
Because it's based on love's unselfish giving."

The youngster sighed: "I'll learn this lesson well
And change my ways, but how will people tell?"
The old man smiled, "If you're sincere and true,
Just be yourself, and friends will come to you!"

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By MILDRED HATTON

TULARCITOS WEEKLY

An "old oak leaf cluster" to Bern Lucas, editor of the Valley's newest weekly newspaper and to the staff who just put out the first edition of The Tularcitos Weekly. Containing newsbriefs of the campus, riddles, scientific data and even a classified, Bern's assistant editor is Tom Allaire. Other members of the staff include Marian Doud and Kathy Baker who are doing Society; Rory Brandt, Matt Allaire, and Tom Allaire, who write entertainment; Bethy Wilsey in charge of business and Anthony Belleci "and lots of others" who are helpers.

POPPY BLUEBIRDS

The Poppy Bluebird Group held their "pinning ceremony" recently. Standing in a circle, the girls held a lighted candle decorated with a flower while reciting the Bluebird Wish. Taking part were Susan Angier, Marit Arana, Christine Belleci, Page Clausen, Liz DeAmaral, Hilary Grey, Elizabeth Kern, Fawn Nicholsen, Mary Jane Reuter, Pam Oross, Anna Vanderveen and Jody Thayer.

The girls, whose leader is Mrs. Patricia DeAmaral, held a gala costume party in observance of Halloween at the Robert Oross home on Via Contenta. Games including the Great Pumpkin and dunking for apples were enjoyed as well as hot dogs roasted in the fireplace.

NINTH BIRTHDAY

A birthday always calls for a party but especially if you are as lucky as Steve Doelman and it happens to fall on Halloween! Classmates were invited to join Steve for a dinner party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Doelman of Via Contenta. Following dinner, the now nine year old Steve and his guests went out to Trick or Treat. Arriving in costume were David Lyon, Frankie De Amaral, John Littlewood, Wes Farr, Billy Lyon, and Steve's brothers, Jon and Eric.

2ND GRADERS ON THE GO

The second grade students in Mrs. Frazer's class at All Saint's Day School have made two field trips recently which gave them an opportunity to learn first hand the inner most secrets of wholesale and retail markets, also to compare real life grocery merchandizing with the small model store which they have set up in their class room. Beginning in Monterey where they toured a warehouse, the youngsters were guests of Dean Wolters at his market, and then continued on to Safeway. They inspected the walk-in refrigerator and learned from the department managers how to order produce and dairy products for Carmel Valley customers.

Having viewed a movie about the making of Hershey's candy, the class was invited to tour the Peter Paul Candy Company in Salinas. Among those making the trips were Michael Blanchard, Jennifer Keith, Ethan Luke, Janet Madler, Fawn Nicholsen, Payne McIntosh, Cindy Peabody, Dana Pratt, and Chris Stanley.

FANCY CUPCAKES

Cupcakes were provided for the little girls to decorate at Pam Gayman's sixth birthday party. The cake decorating contest proved to be a stroke of genius for Mrs. Kirk Gayman who had a house filled with party guests on a VERY rainy day!

Delighted with the frosting fun were Donalyn White, Kim Friday, Janine Renault, Linda McGlochlin, Rosalie Belleci, Colleen Condon, Susan Renault, Ralph Verde and Pam's brother, Ronnie. Assisting Mrs. Gayman was Mrs. Sal Verde.

LEAVES FOR HAWAII

Mrs. W.E. Viljoen has returned to her home on the Kona Coast following a month on the mainland as guest in Orland of her sister and brother in law, and in the Valley with her daughter Jeanine Bottarro and her husband Tom and their children, and her son, Ben Viljoen, his wife, Carol and their children.

She enjoyed greeting many friends made during the years that she was a Valley resident. She was a guest on Valle Vista of Mr. and Mrs. Art Wylie where the threesome recalled happy times during the mid-30's when they all lived at Lake Tahoe.

SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

Charles Schultz's lovable comic strip canine "Snoopy" was the theme for Jeff Hogan's seventh birthday party and temporarily replaced the family's majestic dobermans.

The dinner party was planned by Jeff's mother, Mrs. Nancy Hogans at their home on Holman Road. Assisting her was Jeff's grandfather, Mr. E.A. Kamerer, and Miss Ginnie Thayer who was home from college for the weekend. Awards were made during the evening to the beanbag champion and the pogo stick champion. Guests included David Fogelmanis, Garth Frazer, Andrew Lockwood, Nick Marden, Jimmy Thayer, Ricky Petkus, Jody Thayer and Jeff's sister Sharon.

NEWS OF ELLEN WATERS

Friends caught a brief blue flash of the car driven by Mrs. Tom Waters when Ellen made a flying trip to the Valley from San Jose to take care of rental property which they own on Lupine Lane. A feature article in the Sunday magazine of an October San Jose Mercury-News helped to bring Valleyites up to date on the exciting things that have been happening to Ellen since the Waters family left the Valley.

Always one whose name was synonomous with high fashion and modeling, Ellen is presently director of Fischer Finishing School, a training program for a modeling technique or "new merchandising form.." Girls are taught to hold a pose for five minutes without batting an eyelash, twitching a muscle.. it is impossible to even see them breathe!

CV Chapel honors Seung Pak Park, choir director

Mrs. Seung Pak Park was guest of honor at a "Thank You" tea Sunday when members and friends of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel gathered to thank their popular choir director for her years of service to the community.

Sunsah is leaving the Chapel to become choir director of the Monterey Methodist Church. Her husband, Seung Pak Park, will continue as organist for the local church. Gifts were present from the Chapel, the Youth Choir, her piano pupils and her many friends, following a tribute from Dr. S. N. Trevino.

Cookery Corner

Featuring the favorite recipes of local cooks.

MRS. ROBERT DUDLEY is a Middle-East cookery enthusiast, mainly because she likes eggplant and lamb. And also because her sister-in-law sent her a facinating book of Middle-East recipes, which she was prevailed upon to share with us.

Mari Dudley is usually too busy helping with the marketing end of her husband's machinery engineering business and writing articles for trade magazines, to fuss with exotic dishes. But she loves to read cookbooks and occasionally prepares something splendid for her family or guests.

Here are three recipes from the exotic East she has used often cnough to feel right at home with.

SAUVLAKIA

(Skewered Lamb)

1 cup olive oil
1/3 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup red wine
2 cloves chopped garlic
Salt and coarsely grated pepper
8 large mushroom caps
1 ts. oregano
1 bay leaf
4 tomatoes, quartered
1 lg. onion sliced
2 green peppers, cut in 1/4" strips
leg of lamb

Cut meat from leg of lamb into 1/2" cubes. Put in a large earthenware bowl or baking dish. Mix oil, juice, wine with seasonings and pour over meat. Weigh down with a heavy plate and marinate overnight. Arrange meat on skewers alternating with tomato, vegetables. Broil in oven or over charcoal until brown on all sides, turning and basting with marinade. Meat should be medium rare. Serves 8.

HATZIL KATZOOTS

(Israeli Dish)

1 lg. eggplant
olive oil
2 hard cooked eggs, sieved
1 tomato, finely chopped
1 clove garlic, minced
salt and fresh-ground pepper
1/2 cup pinenuts or sunflower seeds
1/4 cup minced parsley

Peel eggplant and slice thin. Heat olive oil in large skillet and saute eggplant until lightly brown and tender but not too soft. Chop and mix with eggs, tomatoes and seasonings. Stir in pine nuts and turn into a serving dish. Sprinkle with parsley. Chill and serve with crackers for appetizers or as a vegetable with a cold buffet.

PEETAH

(Israeli Bread Discs)

Dissolve 1 pk. dry yeast in 2 T. luke warm water
1 ts. sugar
1 beaten egg
1/3 cup lukewarm water
2 cups flour
1/8 ts. salt
3 T. cooking oil

Addsugar and egg to yeast and stir well. Sift flour and salt and add. Then add the oil and water. Mix into a soft dough adding a little more water if needed. Cover and let raise until double in bulk. Punch down and form into 16 flat cakes 4" in diameter. Place on an oiled baking sheet and let raise again until almost doubled. Prick with a fork, brush with water or oil and bake in a preheated oven until lightly brown. Cakes will puff up around edges and be hollow in the center. Serve hot.

Monte Mart's Lit Ng heads county's biggest retail business

FRIENDS OF PHOTOGRAPHY

Cordially Invites the Public to the Opening of a Photographic Exhibit by Donald S. Ross at the Carmel Photography Center,

San Carlos and 9th

Friday Nov. 22 -- 8 to 10:30 P. M.

Exhibit to run Nov. 22 to Jan. 5

Gallery hours 1 to 4 p.m. daily, except Monday

Facing the mountains and looking back at the Pacific Ocean in New Monterey, "Monte Mar" was an appropriate name for the first store of the local chain, which this week opens its fourth store in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

The original store, a food market, opened in 1960, and when the huge Salinas store with its broader offerings opened in 1962, it seemed more appropriate to add the final "t" of the name to make "Monte Mart."

With opening of the Del Rey Oaks market and general discount store two and a half years ago, Monte Mart flourished into what Pres. Lit Ng believes is the largest grossing retail operation in Monterey County.

Growth has been rapid: from the 22,000 square foot New Monterey market, plus 110,000 more square feet in the Salinas store, to 72,000 additional square feet in the Del Rey Oaks Store.

NEW RANCHO STORE

The fourth big store in the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center will offer all kinds of foods including gourmet specialities, wines and liquors, and a big variety of general merchandise from beauty aids to phonograph records.

"Our success has been due to our mass merchandising methods," Mr. Ng (pronounced "ing") explained. "The housewife wants to enjoy herself during one-stop shopping, and our volume purchasing and mass displaying helps give low prices. We, of course, pass along our savings to her."

PRES. LIT NG of Monte Mart, Inc. opened the fourth store of the company at the Carmel Rancho Shopping Center this week.

He emphasized that the Monte Mart stores employ local people, now more than 350. Most the key personnel have been with the company nearly since its beginning. Warren Boydstun is operations manager, Ben Norwood houseware manager, H. J. Lom meat buyer.

Jason Mar will be manager of the Carmel Rancho store and Kim Hobart will manage its grocery department.

TULARE STORE

Youthful Lit Ng, who is in his mid thirties, was born in China, in a village about 30 miles from the major South China city of Canton. He came to this country when he was five, and remembers helping his father sell ice cream and soda pop in their small grocery store in Tulare.

His grandfather was born in the United States shortly after his great grandfather arrived here in the early 1900s. His father was born in China, although he spent a good part of his life in America.

Lit spent a few years in China before the war to learn Chinese. He appreciates the heritage of so many American emigrees because of his overseas background and somewhat regrets that the ancient Chinese culture and language of his own three children are fading.

He feels strongly that America offers priceless opportunities to minority groups if only they will take advantage of them, contribute to their country and work hard.

BIG-GAME HUNTER

Big-game hunting is the avocation of Lit Ng. He is one of about 200 "grand slam" mountain goat hunters in the world. This means that he has bagged the four major types, Dall sheep in the Alaska Yukon, Big Horn in Alberta, Stone sheep in British Columbia and desert sheep in Baja California, Mexico.

A variety of hunting, from quail to sheep to deer, takes him to Baja some half dozen trips a year.

His office in the Salinas Monte Mart store is a trophy room, with a beautiful white goat skin with horns for a rug and various other trophies, including marlin fins, on the wall.

His impressive collection of some 75 rifles and shot guns fill cases along the walls. One contains every Winchester Model 70 variety of rifle but one.

The wood gun stocks of most of the guns are the personal handy work of Lit. His hobby is to find hard woods with beautiful grains and to fashion and polish his own gun stocks from them.
